COUNTY BROADBAND PROJECT UPDATES

Here is an update on the three grant-funded projects that will provide fiber-to-the-home and business in Lincoln County's eight cities and towns.

Project One: The networks in Almira, Creston and Harrington are in the final stage of construction. They are capable of reaching 536 premises. We anticipate these three networks will go live in late February.

Project Two: The construction contract for the Wilbur and Davenport networks was recently awarded and materials have been procured. Project two networks will be able to reach 1,439 premises. Wilbur will be constructed first, followed by Davenport. A third piece of this project will take the county's fiber optic cable from Harrington all the way to Sprague. We anticipate project two will go live by the end of 2024.

Project Three: This project includes networks in Odessa, Reardan, and Sprague and will take county fiber optic cable out to Hawk Creek. It will be able to reach another 1,231 premises. The design is complete, and the required environmental review process has begun. Construction will start in 2025.

Lincoln County has been awarded a fourth grant from the state to extend their fiber to the Seven Bays and Deer Meadows communities. This project scope is still being fine-tuned. Once the scope is finalized the grant contract will be executed and we will begin procurement of professional services and environmental review. It is still too soon to predict a construction start date.

The county will not connect fiber directly to homes and businesses. In most cases, it will bring the fiber to the nearest utility pole. If the homeowner chooses to connect, they can select any internet service provider (ISP) that serves on the county's network to connect the fiber to a small box outside the home and create the connection.

The county's fiber follows the path of existing power lines and will attach to existing utility poles. Each of these projects will require some property easements for linemen and splicers to access utility poles that stand on private property. Easement requests are about to go out to some property owners in project two so please watch for them in the mail. If you have questions regarding easements or the four networks in general, please email the county broadband office at lbroadband@co.lincoln.wa.us or call 509-215-7837. Updates will soon be available through a broadband webpage on the county's website at www.co.lincoln.wa.us.

AVISTA OFFERS TIPS TO HELP CUSTOMERS PREPARE FOR THE COLD
Weather significantly impacts energy use.

Avista has tips and tools to help its customers remain comfortable and prepare. "In our region, heating is responsible for 40-60% of the energy use you see on your energy bill," said Meghan Pinch, Energy Efficiency Program Manager at Avista. "That's why keeping heat inside is so critical in the winter. If heat escapes through cracks or windows, your home will use more energy and your heater will run more often than it should to keep your space warm. The extra energy use is what drives winter bills up."

Reducing air leaks can cut a customer's monthly energy use by up to 10%. Air leaks are commonly found around doors and windows, in floors, walls, ceilings and ductwork, and through fireplaces and exhaust fans. "If you have a quarter inch gap around a door, it's the same as having a softball-sized hole in your wall," said Pinch. "The good news is,... there's still time to complete easy, last-minute fixes to seal leaks and stop cold air drafts."

1. Seal air leaks around windows and doors with easy-to-install weatherstripping, removable rope caulk, or permanent tube caulk.
2. Stop cold air drafts that come through windows by installing removable window plastic, which essentially turns a single pane window into a double pane. For a more permanent solution, install insulated curtains or honeycomb shades.
3. Stop heated air from escaping through vents by turning off kitchen, bathroom, and other ventilation fans, when you don't need them. In just one hour, they can suck all the warm air out of a house.
4. If you're not using your fireplace, close the chimney flue. If it's left open, all the heat in your home will be sucked straight up and out of the house. Wrap your window or wall air conditioner and consider an alternative to an always-open pet door, too.

"When you've sealed your air leaks and stopped cold air drafts, you'll feel more comfortable and won't be as tempted to bump your thermostat up," according to Pinch. "Avista recommends setting your thermostat at 68 degrees in winter and turning it down when you go to bed or leave the house. Lowering it just 3 degrees further and consistently keeping it there can also save up to 10% on your monthly energy use."

No matter the type of heating system a home uses, it will work harder and more often when temperatures outside drop below freezing. If you rely on baseboard, space, or wall heaters, only use them in areas you're occupying and close doors to the rooms you're not in (if freezing pipes are not a concern). Keeping your indoor humidity level between 30-45% will also help you feel warmer.

Avista also recommends having an emergency preparedness kit on hand at all times. In the case of unplanned outages, consider including items like flashlights with fresh batteries, a portable battery-operated radio, a cell phone with battery back-up, water, and nonperishable food. Customers needing additional support during this time are encouraged to call 211 or visit www.wa211.org or www.211.idaho.gov.

For more information, customers can call Avista's customer service team at (800) 227-9187.

Reardan YOUNG AT HEART Program

Reardan Presbyterian Church was looking for a way to build up the Reardan community among our senior citizens, especially after the isolation of the pandemic years. The Presbytery of the Inland Northwest offered a small grant to get us started, and Young At Heart Reardan Senior Social & Lunch group was begun in Dec. 2022. We thought we would try it just once a month for a few months, then evaluate the response. We were amazed at the turnout!

Our primary goal was to offer a time when seniors could socialize easily, and what better way than to share a meal together. One of the members, Chef Diane, had previous experience cooking for large groups, and volunteered her services. A few others donate setup/cleanup/entertainment. We usually have between 25-35 seniors (anyone 55yr+ qualifies). Lots of good food, pleasant conversation, and fun activities are happening every time we meet!

In June of 2023, Lincoln County Health offered us a separate grant for our senior program. This has enabled us to continue to offer lunch at no cost, and to pay our chef for her time. We have decided to meet twice each month, on 2nd & 4th Fridays (except for Nov/Dec due to holidays). We take suggestions for activities. So far we have had music, trivia, bingo, board games, crochet lessons, and informative talks from various local agencies. More fun is in the works. Our friendship ring has expanded. We hope you'll join us-bring a friend too! For more information, contact Reardan Presbyterian Church, 509-796-2141.

WARMING UP WITHOUT WORRY

With winter in full swing, furnaces will fire up, thermostats will climb, and wood stoves will stay burning to keep our homes warm and cozy. There are health benefits to staying warm, but staying warm safely is more important.

Carbon monoxide (CO) is an odorless, colorless, tasteless gas that is a byproduct of burning fuels. Almost all home heating options produce carbon monoxide, except electrical heaters, though they have their own safety concerns. Whether you have a traditional furnace or a wood stove, reducing the risk of CO poisoning and knowing the signs could save a life.

Symptoms of CO poisoning are similar to the flu, but can come on within 30 minutes, depending on how much CO has collected in the room. Symptoms to watch for include headache, fatigue, shortness of breath, nausea/vomiting, dizziness, and confusion. CO can collect in unusual ways, depending on the air flow: it is common for one room to have dangerous CO levels while the rest of the home is safe. Pets, especially birds, are often affected by it before we are, as their smaller lung capacity and unique systems are affected faster.

Good news: CO poisoning is completely preventable! Installing CO detectors is an easy way to ensure there is no build up without a warning, and some smoke detectors now include CO monitors. CO detectors are relatively inexpensive: there are lots of options for under $20. If you rent, landlords in Washington state are required to provide CO monitors. Make sure to find one with UL on it, as they set the standard in electrical safety, and check the battery at least twice a year. Remember, if the alarm sounds, leave your home immediately and call your local fire department.

Keeping up with the service of your furnace/heating unit and remembering to clean out wood burning stoves regularly will reduce the risk. If you use a portable heater, choose the right size for the room, make sure it is vented, and only use the designated fuels for it. Never use other appliances—such as a stove—as an alternate heating source.

Our ability to fight off illnesses is affected by the temperature, especially if we're over 65, have a disability, or a long-term health condition. Staying warm supports our immune system working at its very best, allowing us to fight off the increase of viruses that circulate this time of year. Cold air can increase blood pressure as our hearts work harder to keep our extremities (hands and feet) warm; they are also the first to get cold when our bodies need to conserve energy. Beyond the physical, staying warm has shown to have a positive effect on our mental health: the National Health Service in the UK estimating seasonal affect disorder can be reduced by half, simply by staying warm.

Staying warm will help you stay healthy this winter. Taking preventative measures to protect your home from carbon monoxide poisoning and knowing the symptoms will help you stay safe this winter. Staying happy, well that's up to you.

For more information, visit co.lincoln.wa.us/public-health. If you need financial assistance with your heating and electric bill, there are several programs that can help. If Avista is your provider, visit their website and search My Energy Discount-Washington for more information. If Inland Power is your provider, you can email them at inlandpower@inlandpower.com. Rural Resources also has an energy assistance program, which you can find more information about by calling (509) 685-6000.
