MATT CARSTENS EARNS CCA CERTIFICATION

Matt Carstens of Valley Agronomics LLC has recently been certified by the American Society of Agronomy as a Certified Crop Adviser (CCA). To attain this prestigious certification Matt passed an International CCA Exam and the Northwest CCA Exam, worked for 2+ years as a crop adviser, and worked several years of agronomy experience in the Agronomy and Turf Grass industries. Matt also provided documentation of professional competence, college course work, and work experience. All of Matt's history was submitted to the Northwest CCA board of directors to be reviewed and approved.

As a Certified Crop Adviser Matt has signed and agreed to uphold the CCA Code of Ethics. This means he will always focus on grower profitability while optimizing and protecting our natural resources.

In order to maintain his CCA Certification Matt must earn 40 hours of approved continuing education units (CEUs) every two years. CEUs must be divided between nutrient management, soil and water management, integrated pest management, crop management, and professional development. These strict standards produce a well-rounded agronomy professional. Research scientists at land grant universities provide much of this cutting-edge training.

The Certified Crop Adviser Program is administered by the American Society of Agronomy. Since 1993, only around 13,500 men and women in the United States and Canada have earned and maintain their CCA designation. Matt has demonstrated the commitment, education, expertise, and experience needed to become one of the few agronomy professionals to be named a Certified Crop Adviser.
